Naples, September 13. N. S.

THE Senate has repreſented to Count Martinitz, the Viceroy, That his Excellency's appointing Meſſieurs Piſani and Rubini to be Chief of the Tribunal, is contrary to the Conſtitution of this City, by which it is provided, That none but Natives of the Kingdom ſhall be capable of that Authority. There is an Edict publiſhed here, by Order of King Charles, to cancel all Grants and Dignities which were confer'd by the late Government. We expect very ſuddenly the Arrival of the Empreſs Dowager, to take upon her the Adminiſtration of the Government, Count Martinitz being recalled to the Imperial Court. Count Thaun, who had left the Camp before Gaeta by reaſon of an old Wound, which was open'd again, is returning to that Siege, though not wholly recovered. The laſt Letters from thence adviſe, That our Bombs had done great Damage to many Parts of the City, eſpecially the Cathedral Church, and that they were preparing for a general Attack; but add, That the Place was reduc'd to ſuch Extremity, that they expected it would ſurrender without any further Reſiſtance. The Beſiegers are reinforced with 500 Men. The Surrender of Peſcara cauſes a general Satisfaction here. Several Perſons of Condition are taken up on Suſpicion of being well affected to the Duke of Anjou; among others, the Marquis Camerotta, and Don Emanuel Acompo, Captain of a Galley. There are ſuch loud Complaints among the common People, of the Scarcity of Corn and Oil, that a great Quantity of thoſe Proviſions are order'd to be brought by Sea from Apulia: There are Two Engliſh Men of War appointed for their Convoy, who may at the ſame Time awe the Privateers of Barbary, which interrupt our Commerce on the Coaſts of Calabria. A new Edict is iſſued, requiring all French Men to depart out of this Kingdom, with ſevere Penalties on ſuch as ſhall diſobey that Order. Two Companies of a Spaniſh Regiment, which was lately rais'd, are commanded to march to Capua.

Dreſden, Sept. 23. His Majeſty King Auguſtus having ordered, That the Diverſion of Shooting with Steel Croſs-Bows at a Bird of Wood, planted on a Pole about 200 Foot high, which formerly was Annual at this Place, as it is in many others in Germany, ſhould begin the 20th Inſtant, his Majeſty repaired to the Place about 11 in the Forenoon, where the Burghers of the Town were under Arms, and a Party of their Peaſants dreſs'd in Antick-Habits. After the Sport had laſted near two Hours, the King dined in a Tent; and an Accident having hinder'd the Ambaſſador of Denmark from being at Table, the Envoys Extraordinary of the Emperor and Queen of Great Britain had the Honour to be on the King's Right and Left Hand. The Envoys of the States General and Elector Palatine, together with the Principal Miniſters of this Court, ſat in their Places. As ſoon as Dinner was ended, the Sport was reaſſum'd, and continued till the Evening; when part of the Bird ſtill remaining, the Company met the next Day; and his Majeſty and the Miniſters dined as before. There were 50 Perſons who ſhot at the Mark, among whom his Majeſty and the Imperial Envoy ſhew'd the greateſt Addreſs: Nevertheleſs it chanc'd that the Britiſh Envoy, by his Subſtitute, (which the Laws of the Sport permit) ſhot down the laſt Piece of the Bird, and by that Means became King of the Solemnity. The Inſtallation was referred to the Day following, when the Envoy was harrangued in Verſe by the Orator of the Sport, who concluded with the following Diſtick:

Anglum Saxoniam tantis ornare Triumphis
Nil mirum, Prolem diligit illa ſuam.

After this a Gold Chain, on which were ſeveral Medals given by former Kings of the Sport, was put on him; but, by the King's Leave, was taken off, and plac'd on his Subſtitute, who is to be Vice-Roy for the Year enſuing. The Envoy was alſo preſented with a handſome Piece of gilt Plate, a Pair of Colours, and a Garland, which in the Evening were brought in State to his Lodgings, ſome of the King's Servants attending the Envoy's Coach, which was followed by the Burghers and Peaſants, to whom, after they had given 3 Salvo's before his Houſe, he made an handſome Preſent of Wine with other Refreſhments. At his Majeſty's Dinner that Day, the Difficulties that had kept the Daniſh Ambaſſador away being removed, he was at the King's right Hand, and the Emperor's Envoy at his left. His Majeſty was obſerved to be in very good Humour; and as he, together with all the Company, ſeemed much pleaſed that the Honour of the Ceremony had fallen upon the Queen of Great Britain's Envoy, his Majeſty treated him with a very affable Diſtinction; and obſerved to him, That an Elector, an Electreſs, and an Electoral Prince of Saxony, have been his Predeceſſors in that Dignity.

Leipſick,

Alicant, appearing at a diſtance, the Enemy, who believ'd they were follow'd by greater Numbers, rais'd the Siege, and retir'd with great Precipitation. The Gariſon at the ſame time ſallied our, and, in conjunction with the Miquelets, fell upon them in their Retreat, and took ſeveral Priſoners, among whom was the Brigadier himſelf, who commanded the Siege.

Hague, October 7. N. S. Yeſterday, at Nine in the Morning, his Grace the Duke of Marlborough arriv'd here, and in the Afternoon had a long Conference with the Deputies of the States, which was again renew'd this Morning. His Grace ſet out this Evening for the Army, where it is believ'd he will not ſtay longer than to give the neceſſary Orders for their marching into Winter-Quarters. Brigadier Palmes is arriv'd here on his Return from Italy. We have receiv'd the Confirmation of the Defeat of Lieutenant-General de Vivans by Count Mercy, who is ſince return'd to the Camp at Ethingen with his Detachment, and the Priſoners whom he took in that Action. He hath brought with him a great Booty, in which is the Plate of Monſieur de Vivans, and 5000 Ducats in Money. Four Regiments of the Circle of Franconia, that were quarter'd in Bavaria, have join'd the Imperial Army. His Electoral Highneſs of Hanover hath reinforc'd the Gariſon of Landau with Six Battalions. We hear from Italy, That the Germans are in poſſeſſion of the Caſtle of Peſcara. The Capitulation for that Place conſiſts of Eleven Articles; among which there is one in Favour of the Duke of Atri, allowing him Six Months to conſider whether he will chuſe to retire into France, or embrace the Intereſts of King Charles. The Siege of Gaeta is preſs'd with the utmoſt Vigour; and the Batteries have play'd upon the Town with ſo good Effect, that all Things are preparing for a general Aſſaule.

London, Sept. 29. This Day the Common Hall, according to Cuſtom, proceeded to the Election of a Lord Mayor of this City; and having return'd Sir William Withers and Sir Charles Duncombe to the Court of Aldermen, they unanimouſly made Choice of Sir William Withers; who was accordingly declar'd Lord Mayor Elect for the Year enſuing.

Whitehall, October 1. Yeſterday Her Majeſty and His Royal Highneſs went from Kenſington to Newmarket.

His Royal Highneſs Prince George of Denmark, &c. Lord High Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland, &c. does command the Company belonging to Her Majeſty's Ship the Dartmouth, Captain William Cock Commander, immediately to repair on board the ſaid Ship at Woolwich, otherwiſe they will be taken up and try'd as Deſerters, ſhe being deſign'd on preſent Service.
